

08/701457

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An antenna for a transponder comprises a magnetic core composed of layered amorphous metallic thin plates or composite plates of soft magnetic flakes and a synthetic resin, and a coil wound on the magnetic core. A transponder comprises two antennas set forth above, and a spiral antenna.

SEARCHED INDEXED SERIALIZED FILED

-23-

27